GET READY FOR THE NINETIETH ANNIVERSARY SUMMER FORMS DELUGE

Ain't it great that Spring always follows, Valentines; which always follows winter; which always follows Christmas; which always means camp is coming! You should know now, that Camp is absolutely coming.

You should've already received your first summer planning email from Cindy. Her first correspondence was all about Buses in particular, but it should have been your first call to start planning your pre-camp preparations. Don't forget you'll need to complete forms, activity preferences, health information, hotel reservations and the like. You'll find everything you need to know about planning for your summer on your CampInTouch portal. Packages, homesickness, personal safety guidelines, what to pack, electronic policies - all you could ever learn about, there at your finger tips. Many information items are already available there, and many more will be added as camp gets closer.

Fortunately we have more to do than paperwork around here. Our cabin enhancement projects will be done by Father/Son (more space in 34 and new bathroom facilities in 11 and 12). We're finalizing the summer menu, signing up nurses, putting counselors in spots and figuring out how often we'll use our new Laser Tag equipment (thought I'd hide that here at the bottom and see who noticed).

Have a great Spring Break. Life is Good. Camp is Better. - Blake
